EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE Beech Creek railroad is a bonanza to its owners.

Now perhaps we shall have some left-over August weather.

It can be quite authoritatively stated that President Cleveland will not accept.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND delights in fishing, but don't care to meet farmers at William's Grove.

THE Republican primary elections were held in Huntingdon county on Saturday. Convention on Tuesday.

It is just as well to remember that autumn does not begin, according to the astronomers, until the 21st of this month.

THE Democrats look bluer than ever. They have made a secret poll of both New York and Indiana and fall very much behind.

MILLS, Watterson and Carlisle failed in the rebellion of 1860-65. See that their rebellion against the protective tariff shall fail in 1888.

REMEMBER this: Not one of the men who formed the Mills tariff bill was among those who tried to save the country in the rebellion.

THERE is no more bold and fearless Republican in Centre county than Dr. Thomas Tobin. This will secure for him a large vote for coroner.

If the President was afraid to come to the Williams Grove picnic he might at least have sent Dan Lamont as a substitute, as he sent a substitute to the war.

UNDER the firm belief that the President should not, during his first term, try to obtain re-election, Grover Cleveland contributes $10,000 to try to re-elect himself.

MR. SAMUEL ALEY is a man who in every respect has the esteem and admiration of his friends. He deserves the compliment of every vote for the office of jury commissioner.

REPRESENTATIVE GALLINGER, of New Hampshire, has made a strong minority report on the Government printing office investigation. He shows beyond question that Benedict is unfit to be Public Printer.

C. T. FRYBERGER and Wm. Allison are representative citizens of Centre county and are acquainted with all its business interests, which qualifies them as few other men would be to attend to its interests in the legislature.

THE German Kaiser has attested his respect for the memory of his grandfather, Wilhelm, by causing to be published four representative passages from the journal made by him at certain critical points in his life, in 1857, 1866, 1872 and 1878.

It seems settled that Cleveland will accept, although his letter of acceptance has not appeared. His check for ten thousand dollars in aid of the campaign fund is regarded by the committee as a "guarantee of good faith," and they feel greatly encouraged.

Gov. Foraker's Reply to Voorhees.

Governor Foraker, of Ohio, made a speech at Richmond, Ind., last Thursday to the delight of the thousands of Republicans who heard him. His address was chiefly devoted to the two questions of the suppression of the colored vote in the south and the Democratic free trade crusade. Of the rival candidates he said:

Our Democratic friends have several times proclaimed through the newspapers, and otherwise, since the campaign commenced, that it was to be conducted, as all campaigns should be, free from all unpleasant personalities. Nevertheless, your distinguished Senator, Mr. Voorhees, has seen fit in a speech, recently made at Sparta, S. C., to speak of General Harrison, using the following language: "I know the man in my State who is the candidate of the Republican party. General Butler knows I speak the truth when I say that a more uncharitable, intolerant, narrow-minded bigot in politics never lived than the Republican candidate for President, I measure my words."

"I will hope and pray, and so I ask you to do, that God Almighty may avert such a calamity to this land as the election of General Harrison."

I do not call attention to this for the purpose of making complaint, for I do not know of any Republican who is afraid to have the individual character of Benjamin Harrison subjected to the severest scrutiny that may be possible; neither do I know of any Republican who has any desire to occupy his mind with the contemplation of such a subject as the private character of Mr. Cleveland. We are, however, interested in the public characters of these men. It is natural, therefore, for men to want to know who they are in a political sense, and to know what ideas and principles they present.

Answering the challenge of Mr. Voorhees to that extent let me say to all who want to know who Harrison is, think of the Republican party. Think of its patriotism, its heroism, its sacrifices; think of its humanity, its morality and its matchless statesmanship. Think of its great leaders—of Lincoln, Seward, Chase, Sumner, Morton, Thaddeus Stevens, Grant, Garfield and Blaine. Recall their exalted characters, their learning, their culture and refinement, their great powers of intellect, their love of liberty and their zeal for human equality. Remember what they and their party have done to preserve national unity, maintain inviolate our national honor and to promote human welfare. Fill your mind with this splendid chapter of our history, and then conceive of a man who has been one of the prominent controlling factors and chief aspirations in it all, and you have Benjamin Harrison. Such a man needs no other or further eulogy; for when you say of him that he is typical of all the broad humanity, noble generosity, devoted Christianity, unflinching patriotism, soldierly heroism and unexampled magnanimity that the Republican party has displayed, you have accorded him the highest virtues he can possibly possess. All this can be said of Benjamin Harrison truthfully and without exaggeration. That's the kind of a "bigot" he is.

But what kind of a "bigot" is Grover Cleveland? Paint his party and you have him, too. He is a Democrat; was born a Democrat; he will die a Democrat. He was a Democrat when Democracy meant human slavery. He was a Democrat when Democracy meant, in the language of Judge Taney, "that a black man had no rights which a white man was bound to respect." He was a Democrat when Democracy meant the slave pen, the whipping-post and the auction-blocks. He was a Democrat when Democracy made it a crime, punishable with imprisonment in the penitentiary, to teach a black man the letters of the alphabet. He was a Democrat when Democracy preached and taught the doctrine of secession. He was a Democrat when Democracy plunged this country into a bloody civil war. He was a Democrat when Democracy meant nothing more than a combination of sneaking copperheads, too cowardly to fight on either side. He was a Democrat when Democracy organized and maintained the Knights of the Golden Circle. He was a Democrat when Democracy armed themselves with "Sunday school books," as they called their revolvers to resist the draft. He was a Democrat when Democrats called Abraham Lincoln an ape, a gorilla, a butcher a usurper, a tyrant, a beast and a monster. He was a Democrat when Dan Voorhees, speaking the sentiments of Democracy, called Union soldiers "Lincoln's dogs." He was a Democrat when Democracy chuckled with delight over rebel victories. He was a Democrat when Democrats were starving Union soldiers to death in Andersonville and Libby. He was a Democrat who through all the war, from its beginning until its ending, never had a kind word to speak for Lincoln or the great cause he represented. He is a Democrat who has never to this day, so far as anybody has known, spoken an unkind word of Jefferson Davis or the cause he represented. He was a Democrat when Democracy opposed the issuing of greenbacks, the establishment of the national banks and the adoption of every other measure intended for the salvation of the country. He was a Democrat when Democracy was opposed to specie resumption, favored fiat money and shameless repudiation. He was a Democrat through all the long years of war and blood and reconstruction, during which Democracy meant only obstinate resistance to the achievement of the grandest series of brilliant events with which American statesmanship and American valor have ever been crowned. He is a Democrat, in short, who has stood with his party on the lowest planes it has ever touched. He is a Democrat without any part whatever in any of the glorious achievements of his day and generation. The Union was saved without him. Our armies were raised without him. Our battles were fought without him. Slavery was abolished without him. Secession was shot to death without him. Suffrage was made universal without him. The grand systems of finance that have made our country the wonder and the admiration of the world were all conceived and executed without him. Recall, if you can, the worst days and the lowest depths and the most infamous practices of Democracy, and then paint you a man who has lived through it all, and you have Grover Cleveland as he entered upon his administration. From then until now he has been himself to the Democratic party. He has ruled it with a rod of iron. He has led it with a heel. He has not allowed it to have any will inconsistent with his own. He has had ample opportunity, therefore, to place something on the credit side of his record.

But what has he done? He has spent a great deal of his time fishing. He has spent a great deal of it crawling. His administration has been made up of advances and retreats. No matter what he has essayed to do, whether good or bad, he has not more than fairly entered upon it until he has abandoned it. It was so with the civil service reform policy, his one term policy, his rebel flag policy, and it is now proving to be the same with his boasted free trade policy.

In the language of Senator Voorhees, let us hope and pray that the God Almighty may avert such a calamity to this land as the re-election of Grover Cleveland.

WHEN the Democrats charged that Mr. Harrison had voted against the Chinese bill it only resulted in proving the fact that Mr. Harrison occupied the same position on the question as was entertained by President Arthur and as has been expressed by President Cleveland. His course in reference to that question is thoroughly statesmanlike and is creditable to him. So the Democrats concluded to let that matter drop. Now they have resurrected an exploded charge that Mr. Harrison once said that a dollar a day is enough for any laboring man. But Mr. New, of Indiana, has a standing offer of $5,000 for any one who can prove that Mr. Harrison ever said such a thing. Thus far no individual has been bold enough to make affidavit to the charge. All of these charges are so false and shameful that they make friends for Mr. Harrison.

THE Democratic cry of "free whisky" is shown to be particularly hollow by the following section (No. 40) of the Mills bill:

"That all clauses of section 3244 of the Revised Statutes, and all laws amendatory thereof, and upon manufacturers of stills, retail dealers in liquors and retail dealers in malt liquors are hereby repealed." By the way, the Evening Post corrected the omission of this section from its copy of the Mills bill prepared for the campaign market?

WAGES AND COST OF LIVING.

The New York Express calls attention to an attempt of the Free Traders to deceive workmen by telling them that while they are better paid in this country than their fellows are in Europe, their wages do not go so far, because the necessities of life are dearer here than they are abroad. This argument is quickly disposed of by quoting the figures. In 1884, bricklayers were paid $8.50 a week in Lehigh and $24 in Chicago, a difference of 188 per cent. in favor of the American workman. English carpenters were paid $9.75 and carpenters in Chicago $16.50 a difference of more than 67 per cent. Blacksmiths received $10.50 and $15 respectively, a difference of 43 per cent. in favor of the American. English laborers were paid $7 and American laborers $10.50, a difference of 50 per cent.

The American wages are very much higher than those paid in England, a good deal higher than Free Traders are willing to admit. How is it with the expense of living? In the first place, food is cheaper in this country than it is in England. Beef costs $3 1-3 per cent. more in Liverpool than Chicago. Veal costs 35 1-2 per cent. more. Bread costs a little less, 2 1-2 per cent., and butter a little more. Clothes have been supposed to cost less in Europe than here, but since Mr. McKinley's exposition of the fact that all-wool clothes can be sold in this country for $10 a suit, that supposition has received a very damaging blow. Rents are somewhat higher than there, but 25 per cent. would cover the difference, and the American workman lives in a decent house, while the Englishman lives in a squalor and in the midst of poverty and degradation.

The workman in this country gets from 40 to 188 per cent. more wages than his English competitor, gets cheaper food, of better quality and larger variety; wears as cheap clothes, and lives in a house that costs him a little more rent. He can afford that in view of his other advantages. He can pay the additional rent and lay by almost as much money as the Englishman can earn in a quarter. And Protection has done all this, for the difference between the two countries is the tax laws.

WHEN Roger Q. Mills tells a New Jersey audience of wage earners that he has reduced the tariff five per cent., from forty-seven to forty-two per cent., he insults their intelligence by a deliberate and intentional falsehood. His own figures show that he proposes a reduction of customs revenue of over $50,000,000. This is about twenty-five per cent. of the total annual revenue from customs duties. The average reduction, therefore, is twenty-five per cent. In some industries Mr. Mills has made a cut of forty per cent., and in over 100 cases he has put the commodities of important home industries on the free list. The man who says the proposed reduction is five per cent. or tries to carry that idea is guilty of deliberate misrepresentation. Brand him!—N. Y. Press.

Is It a Surrender?

MR. CLEVELAND pitched his message on a key on which the Democrats in Congress refuse to sing the Retaliation Chorus, to wit, that it is an outrage "to permit Canadian railroads and navigation companies to share in our transportation upon terms as favorable as are accorded to our own citizens." In the bill which has been reported to the House to empower the President to protect and defend the rights of American citizens, nothing is said on this important subject. This is giving up half the battle before it begins. What next?

WHATEVER the Democratic papers may say, the people of this country know that the United States was most prosperous during its period of highest protective tariff, previous to 1883. Looking back through former times of high protection they find that prosperity always attended them. Actual experience will direct their votes at the approaching election. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, especially when, as in this instance, the bird in the hand is an eagle, while those in the bush are nothing but crows.

ALLEN G. THURMAN declares that the surplus amounts to $115,000,000, and Mr. Cleveland's Treasurer, James W. Wyatt, says "there is no surplus." As Mr. Wyatt is on the ground where the surplus would be if there were any, his word will be taken before the "Old Roman's" in this controversy.

GEN. BUTLER'S SPEECH.

Gen. Butler has as keen an intellect and as sharp a tongue as when in the prime of life. His personal friends, desiring to hear his opinions on the two questions of protection and the fisheries, invited him to deliver an address on these live subjects, and in responding he has given grievous offense to the Democratic leaders. In discussing the tariff policy, he takes Mr. Cleveland at his word when he protests that he is not a free-trader, and adds: "I cite him on my side against free trade, but I must confess at the same time that the President seems to try to get as near being a free-trader as he can. If I take his words, he exactly agrees with me to a tariff with incidental protection; but when I read the Mills bill, I find that it puts many matters on the free list which would be disastrous to American production."

After describing the benefits which protection had conferred upon the city and State in which he had lived so long, Gen. Butler said: "From reading his message I learn that the President does not believe in these beneficent results of protection; but I do believe, if he had observed and known, as I saw, how much a protective tariff has done for American workingmen, that message would never have been signed. It is not his fault, but the laboring man's misfortune, that he did not know these facts."

In other words, Gen. Butler attributes the President's attitude on the tariff question solely to his ignorance. He did not know what he was writing about when he penned that message, and he is sharply rebuked for waiting until the third year of his recommendations to Congress before making the discovery that the revenue system was "vicious, inequitable and illogical."

In discussing the fishery question Gen. Butler condemned in unstinted terms the course of the Administration in supporting a treaty that "gave up everything that our fathers had claimed of right in regard to the fisheries." The President is severely scored for having urged this "British treaty," and then, immediately after its rejection, having sent to the Senate a threatening message against Canada, on the plea that he wants to prevent the outrages which have been going on for nearly three years without a word of protest from him. Gen. Butler doubts the sincerity of the President, but suggests that if he is really in earnest and not trying to catch votes, the way to show his sincerity is to enforce retaliation for these outrages by the power he has had since March, 1887.

A WEEK ago the Philadelphia Press published the statement that General Fiske, the Protection candidate for President, is circulating as campaign documents copies of the resolutions adopted by the Methodist conference in New York City. Accompanying the statement was the allegation that Gen. Fiske claims to be the author of the resolutions. We have the best authority to contradict this. Gen. Fiske was a member of the committee on resolutions, but their composition was not his work. Rev. Dr. Dorchester wrote all but three of them.

SECRETARY LITCHMAN stands where all the leading unions do on the subject of Protection. No intelligent laboring-man can be a friend of Free Trade and true to himself. It is not strange, therefore, to find labor organizations almost solidly opposed to the British doctrine now advocated by the Democrats.

GENERAL HARRISON is certainly a master of the art of making neat little speeches without losing his head or his tongue. The pleasant address which he made at Put In Bay on Friday to a crowd of thousands of visitors shows his good sense as a gentleman and his cleverness as a politician.

WHAT could Cleveland have meant by his fisheries letter except to take the attention of the people from the main issue of the campaign—that of the tariff? The tariff issue is one which he made himself and which his party endorsed and there is no escape for him.

THE Democrats avow that Protection protects only the manufacturers and not the workmen. The latter get an average of twice the wages of the European, get better fitting and better made clothing for the same money and get their estates just as cheap.

Our Story Teller.

THE D. AND D. MISSION.

"Oh, dear!" sighed Dorris, discontentedly, standing at the window. "I did want to go over to Polly's this afternoon and learn to crochet these pretty slippers, and now I can't."

"Why not?" inquired her mother.

"Because Patrick is bringing Dandy around, and I suppose I will have to give him an airing. He has been standing in the stable for two days and papa says he is eating his head off and must be driven every day. Mamma, dearest" (kissing her cheek coaxingly), "can't you go this afternoon? It is so lovely, and will do you good, I am sure."

"You can not shrink your duty this way," replied her mother with a smile, "although I might be persuaded to relieve you if I had not the strawberries to preserve. But seriously, Dorris, it seems only a few short months ago that you thought if you had a pony and phaeton you would be perfectly happy, and now it is fast becoming a disagreeable duty instead of a pleasure to drive Dandy."

"But, mamma," began Dorris plaintively, "I have gone over and over all the different drives for miles around, and I have taken every girl in our set a dozen times, and it is so stupid to do the same thing day after day. Besides several of the girls have phaetons of their own, and they do not care for them any more than I do."

Mrs. Anson looked grave.

"It troubles me to see," she said, "that one of your greatest faults is, that you soon tire of what at one time you believed you could not do without. It seems to me that if the best use was made of all we possess, it would not be so."

"But what is the best use of Dandy? I have had lots of fun with him, only I am rather tired of him now, but I do not see what else I can do," said Dorris in an aggrieved tone.

"Do you remember our Lord's parable of the wedding supper, Dorris?" asked her mother. "What was done when the guests one after another refused to accept the invitation?"

"Yes," replied Dorris, wondering, "the poor people were invited in their stead."

"Suppose," continued her mother, "you try that way, too. A drive is neither a pleasure nor a novelty to your friends any longer. I am sure there are many to whom it would prove a real blessing. Old, or poor or sick people who never have a glimpse of the country would not be bored at the thought of a drive with you. It is the same principle that giving is more blessed than receiving. Give up the slippers for to-day, Dorris, and try my plan."

"It's a splendid idea, and just like you mamma, dearest. I'll try it with this very minute. Who will I begin with?" cried Dorris, excitedly.

Mrs. Anson thought a moment. "There is Carrie Flagg; she has been ill all winter, and would, I am sure, enjoy a taste of this fresh, pure air. Ask her to go to the lake with you."

Dorris flew out of the room to put on her wraps and in a twinkling was in the phaeton and driving rapidly in the direction of the house where Carrie lived. It was a low, unpainted cottage, without a tree near it, and as she looked at the hot sun pouring mercilessly in at the windows, Dorris thought if she lived there she would never stay at home a moment longer than she could help.

Carrie's pale face flushed with pleasure as Dorris gave her invitation.

"It will do her more good than all the doctors in the world," said Mrs. Flagg, as she tucked the pillows behind her and patted the thin fingers lovingly. "It is kind in you, Miss Dorris, to come."

"Oh! I did not think of it," cried Dorris, flushing a little at the undeserved praise, "it was mamma's idea."

"But it is you who carry it out," answered Mrs. Flagg; "it is not every mother and daughter who act in such loving sympathy."

As they drove through the shady streets and far into the country, tears of real pleasure came into Carrie's eyes.

"I used to think last winter," she said, "when the pain was so hard to bear, that I did not want to live any longer, but I am glad now I am alive if only for this one lovely drive."

Dorris' heart smote her to think she had had her pony for so long and had only begun to find out the best use for him.

"You shall go often!" she cried, impulsively. "I am so sorry I never thought of it before."

"I have often thought," continued Carrie, "that if I were rich I would think to do a great many things that never seem to enter into rich people's heads. There is a little cripple near our house, and I do not think he has been out of one room for two years. I can see him sometimes when the window is open. I wish you had taken him this afternoon instead of me. I am older and can bear things better. He is so little and thin and pale. There are lots of people who would think they were in Heaven if they could see these green fields and the lake, but I don't believe that they will ever see them until they do go to Heaven."

"O, dear!" cried Dorris. "I am just too selfish to live. It would serve me right to have all these things taken from me. I begged papa for a pony because all the other girls had them, but I never thought what good I might do with it. I am grateful to you, Carrie, for having opened my eyes. I will take that little boy to-morrow, and you can tell me some others."

The familiar road to the lake never looked so beautiful to Dorris as now, when she can see it through Carrie's eyes, and when she reached home late for supper, it was with sparkling eyes she greeted her mother.

"The plan is splendid, mamma! I am sorry I have wasted so many days."

Dorris would have plunged into this new pleasure with such zest as to soon weary of it, had it not been for her mother's wise counsel.

"If you neglect home duties, little daughter," she said, "will that be the best use of Dandy?"

"No," said Dorris, "only there are so many to go, it will keep me busy all summer."

"Let us find out who really need the drives first, and take them and others afterwards," said Mrs. Anson.

With Carrie's help Dorris made out a list of a few sick people in the neighborhood, and carried it to her mother for her approval.

"I have put Carrie at the head, mamma, and then poor little Tommy Dolan, who had some trouble with his spine. Then there is old Mrs. Bridget Maguire. Carrie says she is not so very sick, but the one desire of her heart is to go to the cemetery where her son is buried, and she cannot get there because it is too far to walk, and she has no money. This one is a poor sewing-girl who fell and broke her leg, and Carrie's mother says she has seen her cry sometimes, she gets so tired of her room."

Dorris read over her list with great satisfaction. Mrs. Anson smiled at her daughter's enthusiasm over her new friends, for her "set" and their endless fancy-work were forgotten in her new occupation.

She took care Dorris did not see the smile, and she tried to take as much interest as did Dorris in all the different ailments Dorris talked so wisely about, and many were the nice little dishes which found their way to the sick-rooms.

Dorris rather enjoyed the looks of surprise cast at her by several of her "set" as they passed her one day with old Mrs. McGuire seated in state behind Dandy, her cap-strings flying, and holding on with both hands as though there was a little fear mixed with her enjoyment.

"Who in the world did you have driving with you?" asked Bella Wear, the next time she met Dorris.

"O, she was a part of the D. and D. Mission," laughed Dorris. "You have heard of foreign missions, and home missions, and flower missions, and all sorts of missions, and this is Dandy's and my mission." And then she told her friend all about it. There was a slight curl on Bella's lip at first, but as Dorris proceeded to tell of the pleasure she had been permitted to give to suffering ones, her eyes filled with tears and she exclaimed:

"I wish I could help, also," and Dorris had many willing helpers, and when the first snow came and the drives came to an end, the girls all agreed that it was the very best summer they had ever spent, and all on account of the D. and D. Mission.—Louise Thrush Brooks, in Chicago Standard.

A Good Old Man.

The other day I found myself walking beside an elderly man whose shape of hat and cut of coat indicated "a gentleman of the old school."

I noticed that his pockets were capacious, and they bulged a great deal. The reason was soon apparent. As he approached a couple of gamins in the gutter he abstracted from his coat tails two rosy cheeked apples, which he gave the two boys; and, as they stared at him in astonishment, evidently wondering if their benefactor was simply a crank or if there was some concealed "do" in the transaction, he patted their heads with his cane, and passed on. I followed on and before he had gone another block farther he stopped again and administered another apple to a tow horse. His progress, in fact, was a continual benefaction, and when I lost sight of him, was refilling his pockets at a corner fruit stand, and talking pleasantly with the vender.

"I-I say Miss Muscicle, won't you—fahav me with a little song?"

"Certainly, Mr. Bajove, and what shall it be?"

"Why I think I should enjoy that one about returning the w-wabbit."

(Thoughtfully): "Returning the rabbit?"

"Yes, you know (humming), 'Wetun my wabbit again, again.'"

"Oh, I think you mean 'Bring Back My Bonnie to Me.'"

"Yes, that's it, Miss Muscicle. 'Bring back my Bonnie to me.'"

"Bring back my Bonnie to me."

PETER LET THEM OUT.

The Argonaut.

"Well, sorr, Paddy Murphy, who lives in a cabin close by, wanted a pair of breeches. So he goes down to Peter McCleghan, the tailor who lives in the valley below, and says, he, 'Peter, I want you to make me a pair of breeches.' 'Stand by,' says Peter, 'and I will measure you.' So the breeches were made and when sent home they were so small that Paddy could not get into them. Back he took them and told Peter how vexed he was with them. 'You've made my breeches topsmall,' he says; 'you must let them out.' 'Well,' says Peter, 'leave them with me and I do that same for you.' So Pat left them to be left out. Time went by and Peter did not send them back. So Paddy went down to the valley to see why he did not get them. As soon as he got to the house he saw the tailor digging up some potatoes, and he shouted out to him: 'Peter, have you let my breeches out?' 'Faith and I have!' says Peter; 'I've let them out for a shilling a week ever since you let them!'

WONDERS OF THE SEA.

The sea occupies three-fifths of the surface of the earth.

At the depth of 3,500 feet waves are not felt. The temperature is the same, varying only a trifle from the ice of the pole to the burning sun of the equator.

A mile down the water has a pressure of a ton to the square inch. If a box six feet deep were filled with sea water and allowed to evaporate under the sun, there would be two inches of salt left at the bottom.

Taking the average depth of the ocean to be three miles, there would be a layer of salt 230 feet thick on the Atlantic. The water is colder at the bottom than at the surface. In many bays on the coast of Norway the water often freezes at the bottom before it does above.

Waves are very deceptive; to look at them in a storm one would think the whole water traveled. The water stays in the same place, but the motion goes on. Sometimes in storms the waves are forty feet high, and travel fifty miles an hour—more than twice as fast as the swiftest steamer. The distance from valley to valley is generally 15 times the height, hence a wave five feet high will extend over 75 feet of water.

The force of the sea dashing upon Bell Rock is said to be 17 tons to the square yard.

A Cheap Marriage.

While a justice of the peace in a small town sat quietly in his office waiting for business, a stranger entered and presently inquired:

"Judge, how much will you charge me to read over about fifteen lines of printed matter from a book I have?"

"Why can't you read them?" asked His Honor.

"I can, but I want to hear how they sound when read aloud. I'll give you a quarter to read them to me."

"All right," said the justice. I can't earn two shillings any quicker."

A woman opened the door at that moment and the stranger put down the book on the desk, clasped her hand and said:

"Begin at the pencil-mark there, and read slowly."

His Honor's chin dropped exactly eighteen inches by dry measure as he saw that the reading matter was the usual form of marriage; but he didn't back down from his word. It was the cheapest marriage he ever attended, and he didn't half enjoy the chuckles of bride and groom as they went out.

When was Napoleon's clothes ragged? When he was out at Elba.

When should we read the book of nature? When autumn turns the leaves.

Why is the vowel o the only one sounded? Because all the others are inaudible.

When did Caesar first go the Irish? When he crossed the Rhine and went back to bridge it.

When did George Washington take a carriage? When he took a hack at the cherry tree.

What was Joan of Arc made of? Maid of Orleans. What killed her? Too much hot stake.

When is paper money first mentioned in the Bible? When the dove brought the green back to the ark.

The Mills Tariff Bill.

The Mills bill, if passed by the senate, will throw out of employment or reduce the wages in this country of over two hundred thousand men now employed. Is it wise to transfer the wages of these people to the aristocracy of Europe? Would it not effect every industry unfavorably? It is a self-evident fact that our wage earners cannot receive $10 per week in this country when the same class of operatives in Europe are only receiving from $3 to $4.80 per week, without the aid of a protective tariff. A tariff law that is hailed with delight by the European manufacturer, as the Mills bill, cannot be for the best interest of our own wage workers. These being bottom truths on any class of wage earners afford to support Cleveland!

NEWSPAPER READING.

Newspapers and the press generally have had more to do with lifting the masses into higher planes of thought and organizing public opinion, moulding, correcting and stimulating it, than perhaps any other agency, if not fully as great as all other agencies combined. No sermon or lecture is ever heard by as large an audience of hearers as when published and read in the newspaper. Whether in war or peace it is the most potent agent for developing and stimulating public opinion and sentiment. And this power is becoming greater every year, and with every new generation, in consequence of the more general education of the children of the people in our public schools. But the same civilization which makes our struggles harder, our engrossment in it keener, and which tends to so isolate us in our absorbed self seeking—that same civilization brings the news of weal and woe from distant places so quickly as never before, and brings it so close that it is more powerful than our personal interest and holds us like the ancient mariner held the half unwitting guest, that our sentiments are enlisted and awakened in the interest of others, and we cannot but read and meditate.

The wonderful development of those agencies which are used daily by newspapers, whereby the news of the most distant lands are flashed with the rapidity of lightning to every point at the same moment of time, north, south, east and west, not only accelerates the transaction of the business world and trading community, but quickens all the pulses of our social life. The death of a king, marriage of a prince and princess, and any and every notable event down to the most trivial; every pang of suffering, and every joy, thrills through the land and almost through the world before its force is spent, and before its claim upon our attention has been acted upon. All this brings us closer to one another.

Newspapers should be looked at in a higher and more useful light than as a three or five cents worth of gossip; rather as recorders of history that the world is making for the future historian, and as records of life's earnest struggle for existence and for development and evolution. Read their wisest lessons, gather the fruits of largest use, study the deeper meaning of events; avoid the follies they depict on the one hand, and adopt the plans and advice of the wise and prudent on the other. All newspapers are not up to this high standard—far from it. Some papers confine their news to the criminal doings of the worst and lowest class of society, and present types of humanity and modes of living, acting, feeling, thinking and believing, that cannot do otherwise than brutalize the readers, and demoralize those who are influenced or attracted by them. A true newspaper will present the best types of living, acting and thinking men and women, and the efforts put forth in relation to the struggle for a better life, the usual accidents of flood and field, and the pursuit of happiness all over the world.

Slept With a Bear.

From the Kingston Freeman.

It hardly seems credible that a child should meet with a bear in the woods, nestle close to its warm robe of fur and sleep all night with bruin and be not harmed at all. On Wednesday afternoon last a two-and-a-half-year-old daughter of Millard Davis, of Boiceville, in the Catskill mountains, disappeared, and no trace of her could be found, although searching parties were out all night. On Thursday a man who was fishing for trout discovered the little girl standing in the middle of a brook that runs through a deep ravine between two mountains. She had wandered over two miles away from home. The parents were overjoyed on recovering their little one. And now comes the strange part of the incident. The little girl has never been known to tell stories, and, in fact, is too young and innocent to practice deceit. When her father asked her where she had slept all night the little one answered: "In the woods with a big bear, papa." She was closely questioned, but the child closely adhered to her story that she had slept with a bear in the woods, and people in Boiceville believe that the little girl did really meet with a bear and not knowing what it was went up to it, and for some reason the bear refrained from hurting the wanderer. There are other people who believe the bear came out of the mountains to the vicinity of Mr. Davis' house, and the child, seeing the shaggy brute, ran after it and followed it to the ravine.

A Convenient Husband.

Husband. "Wife, you are everlastingly reading books."

Wife. "Yes, I find them very interesting."

"It's a pity I ain't a book; then you might take some interest in me."

"I wouldn't object, if you were the right kind of a book."

"What sort of a book do you think a husband ought to be?"

"An almanac, so I get a new one every year."

A bright boy, four or five years old, was recently told by his mother that his uncle and aunt and their four children, who had been away from home several months, were coming back again.

"Aren't you glad that they are all coming home to-morrow?" she said to him, "Oh, yes!" he answered with a sigh of relief; "for then I shan't have to pray for them any more."

BUSINESS ON THE SABBATH.

We are surprised and delighted to find the following editorial comments in the Pittsburg Times. It is rare, indeed, to find that the secular press is capable of even comprehending such a broad and safe view of the Sunday question. The views which it says Judge White should hold to be consistent are exactly our views expressed more clearly than we could possibly state them:

"In an interview on the Sunday question Judge White says that while he would suppress sundry descriptions of business running into the Sabbath day, among the rest Sunday papers, he would permit live stock trains to run, on the score of humanity. The Judge intends to be rigidly consistent as well as exactly right; but he does not seem to have thought out his rule. Had he said that no business should be projected so as not to permit the observance of the Sabbath, and that no plan for transacting business on Sunday is right, he would have uttered a principle clear enough to stand on and steered clear of a fatal inconsistency."

Taking the humanity view of the live stock business, it will strike many persons that there would be more humanity stopping such trains for rest, feed and water on Sunday than in putting ahead. No doubt there is more money in going ahead than there would be in stopping—so that it is money, and that too, regardless of the Sabbath and humanity, that pushes the stock cars ahead on Sunday the same as any other day.

If Sunday work is to be excused on the ground that it costs something extra to stop to observe the Sabbath, there is no holding the argument together, and Sunday morality after all amounts only to a matter of money saving, which is only another thing for money making.

Let Judge White, who is both learned and upright, plant himself on the principle that nothing is right that does not allow the Sabbath to be kept, and he will, from his point of view, be on unassailable ground. But the moment he accepts the plea of humanity, which examined is nothing else than the saving of a few dollars, and so humanity at all, but the reverse, in justification of Sabbath breaking, he goes to pieces, and, so far as the Sabbath question is concerned, is nowhere. The Sabbath question is a great one, come to look at it. It is handled easiest by heaving to the line, and there is deep water the moment there is a hair's variation, even for humanity's sake. Too frequently humanity and money-making become convertible terms.

This Won't Do, Belva.

Belva Lockwood is a candidate for President, but she might as well withdraw. In a speech which she made the other day she destroyed her chances entirely. Among other things she said this:

As a good snake story is always in order we give the following contributed by Mifflin county where Miss Elsie Wakefield, of Allentown, while hunting berries one day last week, and hearing a peculiar noise, went to the place and discovered a huge snake suspended from a fence stake with part of the body and head upon the ground, and a few feet away was a squirrel which the snake had charmed and was getting into close quarters. From the length of the snake and the part on the ground, the snake must have been eight feet long. It is supposed it was a rattlesnake.

A few days ago, says adispach from Helena, Montana, a party of tourists visiting Yellowstone Park stopped to view the famous "Old Faithful" geyser. She then frantically leaped forward towards the mouth of the geyser, into which she certainly would have fallen and lost her life had

After the State Convention in New York, Col. James Milliken, of this place, was with Hon. Warner Miller, the candidate for Governor, and Col. S. Van Rensselaer Cruger, the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, at the United States Hotel, Saratoga. A general serenade and reception was tendered the candidates there. After a speech by Mr. Miller, Col. Milliken was introduced and his remarks are thus reported in the New York Mail and Express.

Mr. James Milliken, of Pennsylvania, was then introduced. He said in substance that he was greatly impressed and greatly gratified with the proceedings of the convention. The basis of the republic rests upon the intelligence of the people and no one could look over the vast assembly of yesterday without being impressed with the dignity, intelligence and manly bearing of those who composed the convention. As a Republican he felt that he might congratulate the people of New York and the Republican party of the whole country on the candidates nominated and the platform adopted. Men of the highest character have been nominated, men who have been tried in the ranks and in whom the whole people have confidence. Altogether he regarded it as the purest politics that could possibly be adopted. Pennsylvania as well as the other Republican states watch every movement made in this State with profound interest. The issue before us as a people involves the welfare of the material interests of the whole and in a large measure the happiness of the people. It is beyond controversy that those nations of the earth that are to-day politically and financially great arrived at their greatness through the policy of protection to their national interests, while those that pursued free trade, such as Spain, Portugal, Italy, Turkey and Egypt, are at the mercy and dependant upon the charity of almost all the others. It oftentimes seems to us in Pennsylvania that the citizens of New York city are much like the Greeks when Demosthenes taught from a tribune with two auditoriums. When he spoke of commerce he placed them that they might look out upon the sea. New York city, it seems, is ever with her back to the national interests and welfare of the country because her face is only turned to the sea.

On the 15th of March, 1887, the medical department of the army needed some blankets, and bids for the same were invited by the general government. The lowest American bidder was $2.56. There was a bid by an Englishman firm of $2.25. The contract was awarded to the Englishman. The government saved 31 cents on each blanket, as it has the privilege of bringing in such things duty free. A saving of $620 is no small thing to a country like ours, which has only a hundred millions of surplus that it does not know what to do with. American labor and American enterprise was discriminated against by this Democratic administration for the sake of saving a few cents. It was an unpatriotic thing to do, and American laboring men ought not to forget it.

Death of a Child.

On Saturday morning, Aug. the 25th, death entered over the threshold of Thomas and Alta McClintock, residents of Union township and smote down little William Alfred, their second child. He was sick only three days, from an attack of cholera infantum and was aged 2 years and 23 days. He seemed to be the household pet, especially so with his aged grandfather, who is sorely bereaved in his death. His remains were interred in Messiah's church cemetery accompanied by a large concourse of relatives and friends. Rev. J. Zeigler conducted the funeral.

12 Pounds of Tumor

is a hideous thing to have attached to a human frame, yet Mr. Reuben Severance, of Upper Stillwater, (part of Old Town, Me.) had one in his groin which he carried for about ten years. It began to form about fourteen years ago, being at first hardly larger than a pea. Mr. Severance, in his sworn statement before ex-Governor D. F. Davis, of Maine, says:
"At first it did not trouble me much but as it grew in size it was accompanied by severe darting pains. Food did not digest; had attacks of dizziness; roaring sounds in ears and passed sleepless nights. In 1885 tumor weighed several pounds and extended to knee. Now least exertion caused intense, tearing pain like sticking of needles in the flesh. Abandoned hope and took to bed. Physician declined to cut it out, saying it was too old and weak to survive. Am 76 years of age. Some one recommended Brown's Sarsaparilla. I experienced immediate change for better. Appetite returned; food ceased to trouble me; ringing noises left my head, and best of all, the tumor began to shrivel up and disappear. It is now and has been for some time entirely gone. Can and do go good days work. I am free from the man who invented this medicine. He should wear a crown. I mean always to keep by me a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla while I live."

SOME DOCTORS

honestly admit that they can't cure Rheumatism and Neuralgia. Others say they can but—don't. Athlophors says nothing but—cure. That's the secret of its success. Years of trial have proved it to be a quick, safe, sure cure.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 3, 1887.
In my own family Athlophors was used as a last resort, the user having suffered from rheumatism for years and having been treated for the disease by different physicians in this State and Massachusetts without even temporary relief. Upon my recommendation several of my people have used this remedy with the same results claimed for it.

A JERSEY MYSTERY

A Human Skeleton Lying on a Lonely Mountain Side.

AN AWFUL NEW YORK CRIME

Ellis Kohn Butchered His Wife and Child. His Own Throat, His Abdomen and His Wrist—Dying in a Hospital.

SUFFERN, N. J., Aug. 31.—Little Eddie Noonan, of this village, was roaming over the Haverstraw mountains looking for nut bearing trees. Half way down the slope of a lonely ridge that rises 800 feet he stubbed his toe and went sprawling upon an obstacle that had escaped his notice. Looking down, as he tried to wrench his foot loose, Eddie was horrified to find that his toe had stuck between the ribs of a man's skeleton.

The back of the skeleton lay uppermost. It was fully clothed, with the exception of hat and coat, the absence of the coat exposing the side into which little Eddie Noonan had stuck his toe. The hat and coat lay a few feet away from the base of the hemlock tree.

The clothing, despite its manifest long exposure to the weather, was fairly well preserved, and seemed to indicate that the wearer had been in moderately good circumstances. The bones of the skeleton were entirely fleshless, but to the head there still clung a tangled mass of iron gray hair. The ankle bones protruded from the dead man's shoes, white and gaunt. The feet, however, were covered with fine woolen socks and well made buttoned shoes.

Under the skeleton was found an English bulldog revolver of 32-caliber, somewhat rusty from exposure and with two chambers empty.

Just over the right earhole in the skull was a bullet hole which showed that at least one of the missing bullets had played a fatal part in the mystery of the man's death. Whether it was a suicide or murder there was, of course, no means of determining.

There was nothing in the clothing nor any mark about the skeleton by which it could be identified by any of the villagers.

New York, Aug. 31.—A double tragedy, apparently murder and suicide, was found in the residence of Sixth street and vicinity. In apartments of the tenement at No. 717 Sixth street lived Ellis Kohn, a German cigar-maker, 61 years of age, with his wife. Early in the morning the woman was found butchered in her home, her body lying in a pool of her own blood. The man, after the murder, had cut his own throat, inflicted a dangerous wound in his abdomen and cut his wrists badly. He was taken to a hospital, where laparotomy was performed on him, but the doctors declared that it was impossible for him to live.

The most plausible theory for the tragedy was adopted by the police after very little investigation. It was that the old man had committed the double crime during a quarrel with his wife.

Although there seemed to be no reason to believe that the crime was committed by any one but the husband, detectives were put to work by Inspector Byrne to settle the doubt. A close examination showed a hole in the man's head which looked like a pistol shot, yet a pistol report, it would appear, must certainly have been heard in the house.

The Kohns were understood to be quite wealthy, and although everybody in the neighborhood knew them, no one was speaking terms because of the old man's disagreeable peculiarities. A standing cause of contention between the couple was a projected trip to Germany which Kohn wished to take.

Divided Delaware Democrats. DOVER, Del., Aug. 31.—There was a little factional struggle in the Kent county Democratic convention over the legislative candidates. The opponents of Senator Salisbury had control of the convention and took everything, naming a solid delegation in favor of James L. Walcott to the United States senate. The minority threaten to bolt the ticket.

BRIEF MENTION. Belva Lockwood, the presidential nominee of the Equal Rights party, delivered an address at the Grangers' picnic at Williams Grove, Pa.

No Abatement in the Yellow Fever
Epidemic at Jacksonville.

CAMP PERRY IN BAD SHAPE.

False Stories About the Colored Population—They Are Law-abiding Citizens.
No Hope Until Jack Frost Comes.
The Death Record.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 5.—The fourth day of the fifth week of the yellow fever epidemic finds 311 persons still suffering with the scourge. Thirty-eight have died and sixty-six have recovered.
The relief committee is spending from $1,200 to $1,500 a week, but business has not been at a complete standstill, and there are not more than 6,000 people left in the city among whom the expense can be divided, and the committee begin to be anxious for the future.

Every inducement has been offered to people to leave the city, and with good results.
Meantime the disinfecting committee and a gang of colored laborers are working hard in Jacksonville, and long paths of white, made of the lime that is distributed, mark the sides of every street.

Acting Mayor Archibald said in conversation that the stories that the colored people were degrading houses and stores was untrue and cruel. The colored people he declared to be sober and industrious. And to the lack of temperance among the blacks Mr. Archibald attributes the rarity of yellow fever among them. He says the fever has been very mild, and that those patients who had been accustomed to the use of stimulants were surely marked for death.

Among Monday's deaths was that of Col. J. H. McGinnis, whose wife and family are in New York.

Dr. Solace Mitchell has announced that the Sand Hills hospital is now full, and that no new patients can be received there for several days. There is much talk of opening another refugee camp and H. A. Longie and W. A. McDuff were appointed by the association yesterday to look up a site.

By reason of half a dozen fortuitous circumstances the reporters have been unable to visit Camp Perry, and it begins to look as if the authorities wanted to keep the newspaper men away. Returning refugees say that things are in a bad state at the camp; that baggage by many tons has been heaped up in inextricable confusion. The refugees are thus deprived of changes of linen, and that the management is of the very worst throughout.

The effect of these reports is to deter people from going to Camp Perry. Only a few left today, the people being disinclined to test the hospitality of the camp. The government train makes so many restrictions on baggage that nobody will go on it, and it passes out nearly empty every day.

St. Augustine has a barricade of 100 men about her front against the admission of any one from Jacksonville. She is at such heavy expense in disinfecting and quarantining that she can give no aid to this city.

It is believed the scourge will not abate until a frost is had, and that will not be inside of two months. There is only one way to stem the fever, and that is to move out of its reach. The relief committee will devise no means of inducing the people to leave the city.

Home Again.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 5.—Gen. Harrison and wife, accompanied by Judge Woods and daughter, have left for home. They were escorted to the depot by William Cummings, Miss Cummings, Judge Scott, Mayor Hamilton and a few other friends, and the small party was the center of attraction while it waited in the depot for the arrival of the train. The general was introduced to a number of persons of both sexes, and gave each a pleasant word and grasp of the hand. The party occupied an ordinary parlor car attached to the rear of the train, which moved away amidst slight cheering and clapping of hands.

Impaled on a Pitchfork Handle.
BRAZIL, Ind., Sept. 5.—Samuel Wheeler, aged 16 years, met with a terrible death near Staunton, four miles west of this city. He was working in the harvest field. In sliding off a wagon loaded with hay he was impaled on the broken end of a pitchfork handle. He lived but about an hour, dying in great agony.

BRIEF MENTION.

There are reports in Berlin of important changes in the German government.

The evening London newspapers condemn the violent language used by The London Standard toward the United States in regard to the fisheries muddle.

An unauthenticated rumor in London reports Gen. Boulanger as having passed through Hamburg on his way to St. Petersburg, via Copenhagen.

Three colored men were lynched in Granville county, N. C.

The hotel keepers in Leavenworth, Kan., threaten to close their doors, claiming that they cannot run their business profitably unless allowed to sell liquor.

A red flag displayed in the labor demonstration at Cleveland caused a bit of a riot, the English speaking portion of the workmen objecting to the emblem of anarchy.

A young man named Hare shot and killed two other young men while returning from church, near Parkersburg, W. Va.

Boston Democrats had a rousing ratification meeting and listened to a speech from Congressman Mills.

There were thirty-seven new cases of yellow fever and two deaths at Jacksonville, Fla.

FIGHTING HORSE THIEVES.

Kansas Citizens Waging War on Desperados—Wild Stories of Bloodshed.
RICHFIELD, Kan., Sept. 5.—Wild stories come in daily from the Squaw Canyon country and the horse thieves' haunt. Allowing the usual per cent for romance, the facts seem to be true.

The settlers are making general war upon the horse thieves with all possible vigor, but, owing to the strength of the latter and the nature of the country, progress is slow. But one outlaw thus far has been killed and no settlers. No horses have been captured. Parties have gone from here to re-enforce the settlers. Some of the thieves have abandoned Colorado and come into this state.

Pursuing parties have arrived here having traced their stock into Kansas. One of the party had lost eight head of stock, all he had, through the thieves in the western end of the neutral strip.

It is alleged that the thieves outnumber the settlers. They are well organized and operate by means of confederates, usually fast women, who are sent out to locate desirable stock and report.

DENVER, Sept. 5.—A News special from Lamar says a cowboy just arrived from the Pan Handle corroborates the report of the killing of seventeen horse thieves in the Mack Land. He states that three settlers were killed and five wounded, but can give no particulars. The story, however, is discredited in southern Colorado and is believed to be a report for the purpose of aiding the annexation of the neutral strip to Kansas.

A SAD SCENE AT A THEATRE.

Harry Fisher Plays His Part While His Wife Lies Dead at Home.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Doubtless among the thousands of critical eyes which looked upon the initial performance of "Waddy Googan," at the Park theatre, sparked with laughter at the mirth provoking incidents of the play or filled with tears when the tide of affairs turned, not one pair detected beneath the scowling countenance or in the villainous glances of Harry Fisher, in his capital impersonation of the character of Carlo Donnetto, the Italian, any evidences of sorrow or suffering.

So well did he perform his part that he completely deceived his vast audience into believing that he was heart and soul in his work, but such was not the case.

During the afternoon, only a few hours before he bowed his acknowledgments to the cheering multitude who greeted his appearance before them, his beloved wife died.

Mrs. Fisher died at her home in Jersey City. Her death was unexpected to her husband, and it occurred at such a time that he was compelled to perform his part in the evening, having made no provisions to supply Mr. Harrigan with a second.

It was pitiful to witness the unfortunate man's suffering during the performance. When off the stage he sought his room and there cried like a child, but while before the audience he betrayed not the slightest emotion.

Washouts on the Canadian Pacific.

MONTREAL, Sept. 5.—Washouts were experienced the past week by the Canadian Pacific railroad at several points along the line between this city and Winnipeg. The heaviest was Tuesday was detained by a washout near Port Arthur. The heaviest train of the season in that vicinity took place within the past six days, damaging crops as well as railroads. Large bodies of men have to be kept constantly along the line to keep it in running order.

Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers.

BUFFALO, Sept. 5.—About 800 delegates to the sixth state convention of the Wine, Liquor and Beer Dealers' association were called to order here. President Kearns, of New York, in the chair. He made a speech of welcome. Mayor Becker then tendered the freedom of the city to the delegates. Senator Atherton, of Kentucky, then addressed the convention.

A Canadian Defector.

TORONTO, Sept. 5.—Scott McVeigh, the assistant bookkeeper in the Methodist Book Room, has betaken himself to the United States. His books up to the present time show defalcations to the extent of $5,000, and the end is said to be not yet. Before his flight he is said to have handed over his house and furniture as a partial restitution.

Forty-six People Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—Japanese advice by the steamer City of Rio de Janeiro tell of a terrific storm on the night of Aug. 4, at Tokushima, a town of Awa province, and continues on the next day. In addition to the loss of life, property was destroyed. One hundred and fifty houses and drowned forty-six people.

The Weather.

HEAR IT HUM!

ONE OF THE GREATEST INDUSTRIES
IN CENTRE COUNTY.

Hopkins & Weymouth's Great Saw Mill
at Snow Shoe.

WHAT IT PRODUCES AND HOW IT IS MANAGED.

The burning of Hopkins & Weymouth's great saw mill at Snow Shoe is well remembered. Its re-erection occupied only eight weeks, at the expiration of which it was in complete running order. It is a stupendous industry and is peculiar in its perfect system and its thorough equipment of everything which modern inventive genius can suggest. Mr. Orange Shurtliff, the foreman, is a veteran mill man, of eighteen years experience and possessing a thorough acquaintance with the business and he superintended the erection of the mill, giving his personal attention to every separate item in its make up. This makes him thoroughly conversant with even the minutest pulley in its equipment. He knows and is known to every mill man along the West Branch. The machinery is propelled by a mammoth 80-horse power engine, over which Mr. Myron Conkling presides as engineer, assisted by A. E. Baney as fireman.

The average production of the mill reaches 70,000 feet of lumber per day and between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 feet have been cut the present season. Of this amount about 7,000,000 feet have been shipped away, the demand being so great that even the largest production will not supply it. After stocking with about 2,000,000 more to be cut this fall, preparations will be made to repeat or excel this record by cutting, next season, a grand total of 10,000,000 feet.

One interesting part of its machinery is the band saw, which is 51 feet in length and resembles a belt. A flat gang with 28 saws on it tells impressively of the vast amount of work it will accomplish. A very superior gang lathe mill and an equally perfect shingle mill will turn out, the former 25,000 lath and the latter the same number of shingles in a single day. It may be well to mention here that John Stull, of Eagleville, operates the gang saw and Mr. Fisher is the man who runs the lathe mill. Ed. Lewis skillfully handles the steam feed which is superior in its structure. The cylinder is constructed with a piston extending through it with a head in the centre. It propelling power can be exerted in any direction. Mr. Monroe Hill, of New York State, is the band saw filer, and D. D. Kunes, of Eagleville, the filer of the gang saw. The latter is well known as an experienced mill man.

The off-bearing arrangement is particularly good. All the cuttings are sent fall from the machinery are carried away on machinery on a set of rollers arranged for that purpose. It will be found that all the arrangements of the establishment are such as to accomplish great results while the employees are not overtaxed, but acknowledge that they are most excellently treated. Such a thing as a strike is unheard and unthought of. About 100 men are employed in the woods and about the mill. They are paid in cash every two weeks. The larger part of the employees were formerly residents of Lock Haven, where the proprietors have their homes.

Pine lumber is becoming very scarce in that region and brings as high as from $30 to $60 per 1,000 feet at the yard. Because of its comparative scarcity it is graded carefully, the grades being No. 1, 2, select and better. A. P. King is the foreman of the yard and the shipper, and the shipments of lumber have averaged four cars per day.

As an illustration of the exact system which prevails the description of the lumber in the yard will suffice. When a pile is completed, the number of the pile and time when the last board was put on is marked, together with the kind and quantity of lumber in the pile. This gives all necessary information to the purchaser in regard to the condition of the lumber and it is only necessary for him to indicate in his order the quantity and from what pile he wishes the lumber to be taken.

By way of politics, it is fitting to add that the employees are almost exclusively Republican. One of the proprietors is a Democrat, but he is solid for Harrison this year. All are Americans, and for the interests of America. Recently a fine Harrison & Morton pole was raised by the employees which tells that they will vote as they are ready to fight, to preserve the country from free trade in lumber as well as the other things. A friend of this paper who looked through the mill recently and had the pleasure of meeting this fine crew of men is under special obligations to D. D. Kunes for courtesies extended and information given. Here's our hand and good wishes for the future of all that relates to Hopkins & Weymouth and their great saw mill.

A bush meeting under the auspices of the A. M. E. church will begin next Sunday in Miller's woods, beyond the toll gate on Lewistown pike. It is expected to last until Wednesday evening. Rev. B. F. Brown, of Lock Haven, will be present and there will be other excellent preachers from this vicinity. The singing will also be attractive. It will be an interesting and profitable place for those who visit it for the purpose of worship in the woods.

ent and there will be other excellent preachers from this vicinity. The singing will also be attractive. It will be an interesting and profitable place for those who visit it for the purpose of worship in the woods.

Vermont Goes 26,000 Republican.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt., Sept. 4.—Returns from 105 towns give Dillingham (Republican) 25,375, Shurtliff [democrat] 9,884, Seely [prohibition] 605, scattering 8. The same towns in 1884 gave 22,066 for Ringree [Republican], 8,495 for Redington [democrat], and 472 for Stone [prohibition], and scattering gains over the vote of 1884, Republican 3,209, democratic 250, prohibition 561. Net Republican gain over democratic vote 2,859, over all 2,608.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 4.—Returns from the state election are coming in slowly, but reports from different counties indicate a majority of 28,000 for Dillingham [Republican] for governor over Shurtliff [democrat] and Seely [prohibition]. This is a gain of 10,000 over previous votes in State contests and indicates 40,000 Republican majority in November.

The Picnic next Saturday.

The "Veteran Club of Centre county" will hold its fourteenth annual picnic in Green's woods, Milesburg, on Saturday, September 8, beginning at 11 o'clock a.m. Such speakers as Col. Chill W. Hazard, of Huntingdon county, Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, of Lebanon and Dr. W. D. Hall, of Altoona, have been invited and are expected to be present to address the meeting. By a guarantee that one hundred passengers can be brought over the Bellefonte and Lewisburg railroad, from Lewisburg and intermediate points to Milesburg, the railroad managers agree to run a train, to return as far as Coburn, leaving Milesburg at 5:30 p. m. The same terms have been obtained from the Buffalo Run Railroad Company except that by that Company a guarantee of only 65 has been asked and accepted in order to secure the train to return at 6 p. m. On the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad the regular evening train going west will take excursionists to Lewistown, Tyrone, Philipsburg, etc.

For those going east to Lock Haven, Beech Creek, Howard, &c., an extra train will leave Milesburg at 5 p. m. No guarantee is asked for that train. COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

The weekly meeting of the Republican club on Tuesday evening was a most successful one. The room was well filled. The address made by Rev. C. H. Brown was most excellent. It was expressed in choice language and abounded in eloquent sentiment. The gentleman has an excellent voice for public speaking. His argument was that while each one cannot investigate the tariff question carefully and comprehensively he can follow the leadership of a party that has always been right in its record. The party which he represents can be told by the color of his (the speaker's) skin. He was frequently and loudly applauded. Wilbur F. Reeder, Esq., followed in a stirring address. Gen. Hastings also delivered an eloquent speech.

THE ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FIFTH regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers will hold a re-union on the battle-field of Antietam on the 17th and 18th days of September. Excursion tickets will be sold by the Pennsylvania railroad company for the seashore express on the 17th day of September good to return until the 20th day of September, to Antietam and back from Philipsburg $6.75; from Tyrone $6. No figures given for Bellefonte.

A BILL has been introduced in the House by Representative Buchanan, of New Jersey, to reduce letter-postage to 1 cent an ounce. This bill may not pass at the present session, but it has got to come, sooner or later, and the sooner the better.

Germany is doing considerable foreign missionary work nowadays. It has 18 societies and supports 522 missionaries, who look after their 210,000 converts. Last year the total receipts in money were over $700,000.

A nugget was recently found in the Sierra Azul district in Sonora, Cal., that weighed 5 pounds 2 1/2 ounces, and contained $950 in gold. It was taken from the old placer diggings which have been worked for many years by the Mexicans.

FILE AT SNOW SHOE.

A SERIES OF GREAT CALAMITIES—DEATHS, PERSONAL MENTION AND OTHER PASSING EVENTS OF THAT LOCALITY.

Snow, Shoe, Sept. 3, 1888.

The firm of Thompson & Edwards has been dissolved and the bakery business will hereafter be conducted by Alfred Thompson.

Miss Mollie Glenn, of Lemont, is visiting at her uncle's, Dr. J. P. Glenn of Snow Shoe.

There is a certain curly headed young man in Snow Shoe who goes to see his girl every night in the week and then complains that he has only seven nights in that period of time.

Seneca Walker came out from Bellefonte on Saturday night and remained over Sunday with his mother.

Bucker & Sober's large barn at Gorton Heights burned down on last Wednesday night. Some hay and nearly 1,000 bushels of grain were consumed. The horses and mules had a very narrow escape.

Mr. Mitchell Leathers, the industrious, hard-working butcher, fully realizes the truth of the old adage that misfortunes never come singly. A few weeks ago his wife's mother, Mrs. John P. DeHaas, died, and while attending the funeral, on Marsh Creek, his son Johnny, was stricken with typhoid fever so suddenly that they were unable to bring him home to Snow Shoe. Then his partner Haupt Leathers, was taken to his home at Mt. Eagle, ill with the same disease and has been very feeble ever since. To add to this series of calamities, a valuable horse dropped dead in the harness while Mr. Leathers was peddling beef at Pine Glenn. The last calamity was when, on Friday, the news came from his family who are still at Marsh Creek that the baby, aged nine months, had died of cholera infantum. Truly, this family deserve the sympathy of the community.

Miss Bridget Smith, the milliner, (one of the Smith girls who were made homeless by the fire a couple of weeks ago) will resume business again in a few days in part of Geo. R. Boak & Co's building.

William Lucas, the merchant, sold his valuable delivery horse to George Lowry, Consideration, $175.

An item appeared in the DAILY NEWS several weeks ago concerning Mr. John Bagely accepting pay for photos and then not furnishing them at the time agreed. We have just been informed by the parties who made the complaint that Mr. Bagely has finally furnished the pictures to the satisfaction of all concerned. Better late than never; however Mr. Bagely deserves the notice.

It is rumored that some of the coke ovens at No. 8 will soon start up. Hope the rumor is correct.

Mrs. Geo. W. Howell and family, of Atchison, Kansas, who have been sojourning at the Mountain House several weeks, will start for their home next Wednesday morning.

Miss Blanche Badinger is visiting at her grandfather's, William Badinger, at Salladasburg, Pa.

Knights of Labor Taking Sides.

The Philadelphia Times says that "as a matter of course" no Knight of Labor will go with General Secretary LITCHMAN to the support of HARRISON. Why, we would like to know. The gentleman has long been a high official of the Order and knows what are its interests and what is for the welfare of the workmen. From what we can discover he was never more in harmony with the members of the Order than in taking the step for which he is denounced. We have reason to believe that he and Mr. POWDERLY do not differ in their political views and that they will be found acting together at the election. The principal difference between them is that Mr. LITCHMAN has resigned his office in the Order to work for his political principles, which he could not consistently do in office, while Mr. POWDERLY as yet has not done so. The insinuation by our Philadelphia contemporary that Mr. LITCHMAN is in the employ of Chairman QUAY is an insult to the Order. If Mr. QUAY has agreed to pay all the Knights of Labor who will vote and work for the candidate of Protection he will have a large pay roll and no end to money.

THE bill to pension Mrs. Sheridan would have been passed by the House Friday evening if Representative Cheadle, of Indiana had not objected. Mr. Cheadle will probably hear from some of his ex-soldier constituents.

At Oak Grove school house a new Methodist church building is being erected by the congregation at that place under the pastoral care of Rev. J. P. Sarvis.

The Methodist church at Pleasant Gap is being improved and beautified in an elaborate and tasteful manner.

As a new text book for the schools the School Board has adopted Wentworth's arithmetic.

The Eureka and Flemings will play base ball at Milesburg on Saturday afternoon.

Basket Picnic.

The Sunday Schools of Howard and vicinity are going to have a grand basket picnic on Saturday Sept. 15, to which all are cordially invited. The Sunday Schools and their friends will leave Howard for the grove near by at 10 a. m. As this is the last picnic in 1888 everybody should attend and make it a rouser.

In the evening a festival will be held on the school house grounds where the beauty and chivalry of the place and surrounding country can feast on the good things prepared by the Howard ladies.

—Old line Democrats will vote for Harrison and Morton.

After a careful investigation your correspondent came to the conclusion that that the "off doings" reported to take place at the toll gate, at the end of Jacksonville narrows, are myths, that no spooks exist there or any other dangerous doings are going on, that the whole thing is the result of a vivid imagination and nothing more.

The Millersburg Fifth Wheel Manufacturing Co. has removed its works to this place. It manufactures the plain-clip, Darby top, oval and full circle fifth wheels of all descriptions. Cleveland's Letter of Acceptance.
It is reported that the President thinks that his check contributing $10,000 to the campaign fund is as good a letter of acceptance as any reasonable Democrat can wish, and that no other will be forthcoming. It has for some time been accepted that the President was a man of unusual methods, and this report tends to confirm it. It also accords with his idea of running the government on business principles, and is the latest illustration of his idea of keeping the public service free from party contamination.

Salt Rheum

The agonies of those who suffer from severe salt rheum are indescribable. The cleansing, healing, purifying influences of Hood's Sarsaparilla are unequalled by any other medicine. "I take pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it has done wonders for me. I had salt rheum very severely, affecting me over nearly my entire body. Only those who have suffered from this disease in its worst form can imagine the extent of my affliction. I tried many medicines, but failed to receive benefit until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then the disease began to subside, the disappeared, and now I am entirely free from the disease. My blood seems to be thoroughly purified, and my general health is greatly benefited." LYMAN ALLEN, Sexton N. E. Church, North Chicago, Ill.

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and the calves of his legs, so bad that they would crack open and bleed. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. STANTON, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

From 108 to 135

"I was seriously troubled with salt rheum for three years, and receiving no benefit from medical treatment I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am now entirely cured of salt rheum; my weight has increased from 108 lbs. to 135." MRS. ALICE SMITH, Stamford, Conn.

In Love with His Wife.
"What can I do to regain my husband's love?" writes Mrs. Carrie R., of Toronto. She adds that seven years ago she was married under the most happy auspices, and, until recently, happiness crowned her domestic life; then her husband became distant in his manner toward her, until now he is positively cold. Mrs. R. gives no details, but if she is afflicted with diseases peculiar to women, if her cheeks have lost their bloom, and her eyes their sparkle, it may explain the cause of her complaint. In this event Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effect a magical change and restore her to health. As a powerful invigorating tonic, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For over-worked, "worn out," "run down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dress-makers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, "Favorite Prescription" is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

Startling Discovery.
The discovery by the inhabitants of a locality hitherto unvisited by the pestilence scourge of fever and ague, that it exists in their very midst, is decidedly startling. Such discoveries are made at every season, in every part of the Union. Subsequently, when it is ascertained, as it invariably is at such times, through the valuable experience of some one who has been benefited and cured, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a thoroughly efficacious eradicator of the malarial poison, and a means of fortifying the system against it, a feeling of more security and tranquility reigns throughout the whole neighborhood. Besides the febrile forms of malarial disease, dumb ague and ague cake are removed by the potent action of the Bitters, to which science also gives its sanction as a remedy for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, debility, kidney troubles, and all diseases impairing the organs of digestion and assimilation.

—Dr. VanValzah and his son, of Spring Mills, were thrown from their buggy a few days ago, both escaping serious injury. Their horse, however, met with injuries which resulted in its death.

—Col Victor E. Piolet, of Bradford county, made a grand speech at Williams Grove campmeeting on Wednesday in which he denounced Cleveland and his policy. Mr. Piolet is a Democrat.

—John Daley, aged 12 years, and living at Conemaugh Borough, received probably fatal injuries by the doors of an elevator at the Gautier wire works closing on his neck yesterday. He was taken to the hospital and is in a critical condition.

—The Sheriff's sale of the Howard Iron Works, which was adjourned until Thursday, did not take place, there being no claim against the property, the Howard Rolling Mill Company, limited, having satisfied Hon. Simon Cameron's claim of $10,200 in spot cash.

—The individual who reported the Democratic meeting for the Centre Reporter says he could not gain entrance to the court house because it was jammed with people. Come now, it surely was not the court house that was full—it must have been the reporter.

—The fall term of the Pennsylvania State College will not begin until the 20th of September instead of the 12th. The postponement is because extensive improvements which are being made in the College building will not be completed until the later date.

—An unknown man was found Thursday morning along the railroad near East Conemaugh. He was suffering from delirium tremens, cuts on the head, and a dislocated shoulder. He was taken to the hospital in Conemaugh, where he lies in a critical condition.

—Miss Florence Nightengale is now a confirmed invalid, and is a patient at St. Thomas' Hospital, London. Her services during the Crimean war injured her spine, and she has never recovered from the effects thereof. This illustrious philanthropist is nearly 69 years old.

—The Southern part of Indiana State has been visited by much the severest rains of the year. All the creeks and rivers have become destructive torrents, flooding corn-fields, sweeping away fences, stacks of wheat and hay, and carrying off a great deal of valuable hardwood timber.

The Benefactions of a Private Citizen.

A community that has a citizen like Thomas Beaver of Danville, is indeed fortunate. He amassed great wealth in the iron business at that place and, unlike many other individuals, he believes in spending it for the benefit of his neighbors and friends. He also gives to other places in which he is interested. He has given large sums of money to each one of the principal churches of that town, including the Roman Catholic church, acknowledging the principle that each one is laboring for the good of humanity. He is also a friend of education. Lafayette College, at Easton, and Dickinson College, at Carlisle, have been greatly benefited by large gifts from him. He is a Methodist and his father, Rev. Peter Beaver, was a Methodist minister. He is now erecting in Lewisburg a magnificent stone church building to be presented to the Methodists of that place. It will be the finest church edifice in Central Pennsylvania and is intended as a memorial to his father. The corner stone of the building was laid only a few weeks ago at which time Rev. D. S. Munroe, D. D., of this place was present and delivered a noble oration. It was a very interesting event, but a great press of other matters prevented us from making extended reference to it at the time.

But Thomas Beaver's greatest benefaction—at least, in money value—is the presentation to the people of Danville of a magnificent building to be used as a free library and as a Y. M. C. A. building. The entire value of the gifts is $150,000, including a $100,000, building, $10,000 worth of books and $40,000 in securities for its maintenance. The entire building really belongs to the Free Library Association, consisting of representatives from every church in the town, but they are under obligations to lease the building 999 years, at a yearly rent of $1, to the Y. M. C. A. The building was formally transferred to the association on Wednesday, amid great rejoicing, an oration being delivered by ex-Governor Hoyt.

Thomas Beaver is an uncle of Governor James A. Beaver, our distinguished townsman, in whose career he takes much pride. His gifts for the benefit of his fellow-men must aggregate $500,000, and certainly present a striking contrast to the selfishness of hundreds of rich men whose whole object in life seems to be to amass more money rather than to use it as a blessing to others. Charity and benevolence are so rare that when there are exhibitions of these graces they cannot be too highly praised.

Sent Down from Snow Shoe.

SNOW SHOE, AUGUST 29.
Fever still lingers in our neighborhood. Geo. Witherite and Charles Roth both being very ill with malaria.

A child of Mr. Robert Gilliland died on Friday night and was buried on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Davis returned from a week's visit among friends in the hard coal regions.

The wives of two shoemakers of this place had a disagreeable adventure while berrying the other day. No one was hurt, but the ladies were frightened.

Mr. William Sample, engineer on the Snow Shoe Railroad, went to Philadelphia on the 27th inst. to receive treatment at the hospital, the local physician not being able to give him relief.

Mr. Otis Culver is one of the staunchest Republicans in this part of the State. He is a close student of the Philadelphia Press and calls it his Bible.

Some of the foreigners of this place are being naturalized so as to be able to exercise the right of citizens of a free country.

Reduced Rates to the Buffalo International Fair via Pennsylvania R. R.

The International Fair will be held at Buffalo, September 4th to 14th. The exhibition is to be held in the new building just erected for that purpose, which is said to be the largest fair building in the world. It will embrace in its display not only the exhibits from the entire industrial, mechanical and agricultural field, but an art department, a domestic section, and an unusually fine horse and cattle show. Special features in the shape of running and trotting races, bicycle races, under the auspices of the League of the American Wheelmen, which will hold its annual meeting there, and other attractions of absorbing merit.

In order to accommodate visitors the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Buffalo, September 3d to 12th, inclusive, good to return to the 15th, inclusive, from all principal stations at a rate of a single limited fare for the round trip, with 65 cents added for transfer and admission. Tickets will be sold to wheelmen on and after September 1st, with same limit as to return trip.

A pitiful sight at Tyrone station on Thursday afternoon, says the Tyrone Daily Herald, was a fair-faced boy not over 16 or 17 years of age whose hands were tied together by iron handcuffs. The boy had obtained a horse under false pretence in Burnside borough, Clearfield county, some weeks ago, and after going as far as Ebensburg had traded him off. He was arrested at Ebensburg and lodged in jail about four weeks ago, and on Thursday Constable Wetzel of Burnside was removing him to the Clearfield county jail by virtue of an order from Court. The horse was the property of A. B. McCarral of Burnside. It was hard to believe that one so young and apparently innocent was guilty of so great a crime, and many turned away in sadness from the picture of the boy in irons.

Picnic of the Veteran Club.

Pursuant to the call of the Secretary H. H. Benner, of Bellefonte, the Executive Committee of the Veteran Club of Centre county met in the law office of D. S. Keller, in this place, on Tuesday, August 28, at 3 p. m. for the purpose of making arrangements to hold an annual picnic of the organization, which will take place in Green's woods, near Milesburg, on Saturday, September 8.

The following members were present at the meeting of the Committee: Austin Curtin, of Boggs township; J. C. P. Jones, of Milesburg borough; H. C. Holter, of Howard borough; D. W. Schenck, of Howard township; D. S. Keller, of Bellefonte; A. V. Miller, of Spring township; J. G. Heberling, of Ferguson township; William Resides, of Houston township; N. H. Yarnell, of Rush township; and W. H. Musser, of Boggs township.

On motion, Austin Curtin was elected President of the meeting and W. H. Musser secretary. On motion the following committees were appointed, viz:

On transportation—Austin Curtin, J. C. P. Jones and H. C. Holter.
On procuring of speakers and music—N. H. Benner, A. V. Miller and D. S. Keller.

Chairman Curtin stated that arrangements will be made with the Railroad Company to run excursion trains to and from Milesburg on the day of the picnic, and that they will be requested to stop such trains at the point nearest to the picnic grounds. J. C. P. Jones stated that the picnic grounds are in excellent condition and that the citizens of Milesburg and Boggs township will use their utmost efforts to make the occasion pleasant to all who see fit to be present. The necessary business being completed, the meeting adjourned.

A Social Event.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Garbrick, of Coleville, entertained a company of their friends and neighbors at their residence on Wednesday evening. It was the occasion of very much pleasure to all who were present and Mr. and Mrs. Garbrick excelled themselves in the art of entertaining. Among those present were the Misses Gates, who furnished very enjoyable music, and also Miss Colyer, of this place, who is an excellent musician and by her presence contributed largely to the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. James Reed, of this place, were among the guests and Mr. R. A. Beck, the musical tonorial artist, was present with his clarinet, his music being much enjoyed. The rest of the company were the immediate neighbors of the host and hostess. At 10 o'clock choice refreshments of cake and ice cream were served. After a more than usually enjoyable evening the company separated, hoping for many repetitions of such social festivities.

Successful Lawn Fete.

The entertainment given by Mr. J. C. Miller's class, of the Presbyterian Sabbath school, on Thursday evening, was conspicuously successful. The refreshments were served in the chapel instead of on the lawn, that being deemed more prudent, owing to the chill evening air outside. Nineteen dollars was netted for the purpose to which it is to be devoted.

Young ladies and gentlemen who must be remembered for valuable assistance are: Misses Louisa Hoy, Blanche Hays, Kate Harris, Thomazine Potter, Mrs. Miller, Messrs. Wilson Norris, Jr., John Shugert, Albert Hoy, John Furst.

—The State fair will begin on the large, convenient and permanent grounds of the society, North Broad street and Lehigh Avenue, Philadelphia, next Monday, September 3, and continue until the 15th. It will certainly be a most interesting and profitable exhibition for all to attend who can afford the time and money. Hon. L. A. Mackey, Lock Haven's most prominent citizen, who is vice president in the society, has sent us a copy of the Premium List, for which he will please accept our thanks.

MUSIC FOR THE CAMPAIGN.

We have just received from the publishers, S. Brainard's Sons, 145 Wabash Ave., Chicago, a copy of the "True Blue Republican" Campaign Song Book, containing sixteen pieces of music, arranged for male quartette, with words and music complete. The music was arranged by a quartette of Campaign Singers especially for the coming campaign. The price of the book is but 15 cents.

—The picnic party at the State College on Thursday was a grand success. This afternoon there is a straw ride to Nittany's lofty height, if it don't rain. A "straw" ride, be it known, is a ride in a large wagon, the passengers seated in the straw, a la the old fashioned sled rides.

—All the different departments of the nail factory are now in operation.

Breezy Howard.

Sheriff Cooke has laid a brick pavement in front of his three properties on Walnut street.

Charles Gardner and John Sayers engaged in a knock down argument, at the depot, Monday morning.

James Haines, employed at Tyrone, came home and took in the camp meeting, last Sunday, without his best girl.

Benjamin Holter purchased at Sheriff's Sale the Christ Holter homestead property on Monday last.

James Hogan departed for Snow Shoe last Tuesday. Howard's loss will be a gain for Snow Shoe.

Reuben Plecher, we understand, secured the contract for repairing the Frog Pond School house.

Miss Clara Kline, one of Howard's prettiest young ladies, who has been in the West for the past year, was warmly welcomed home last Saturday by her many friends.

Samuel Khunes, of Blanchard, purchased three tracts of land sold as the property of Christ Holter at sheriff's sale. Mr. Khunes now offers them for sale on reasonable terms.

The lady members of the Evangelical Church Mite Society will hold a grand cake and ice cream festival at Howard on the afternoon and evening of September 1st.

McClintic & Thompson, who keep first class livery stables here, did a big business during camp meeting. They keep good stock at reasonable prices.

John W. Wagner has arrived home from Potter county, where he has been spending the summer in search of duets. He looks well and hearty.

Conrad Singer and Romola's post master, two of Marsh Creek's substantial citizens, took in the Republican county convention and the Democratic mass-meeting last Tuesday.

Scott Miller of Lewistown, Pa., who met with an accident here, causing his leg to be amputated, was taken to his home on last Monday. While here he had the best of care taken of him by our surgeons, Mr. Wm. Smith and Mr. Newson, the proprietor of the hotel, where Mr. Miller and his lady were stopping.

Mr. Jacob Deits says he has in his garden a democratic sunflower stock measuring ten feet in height, on which are thirty-five full grown blossoms. He thinks the whole is typical of thirty-five states that will vote for Cleveland. Jacob always was a believer in "signs and omens."

—It has been decided by the Pennsylvania Company to begin immediately the erection of five mammoth shops in East Altoona at a cost of $500,000, the plans for which reached Altoona Saturday. The shops will have a capacity to build one hundred and fifty locomotives a year, and will give employment to sixteen hundred machinists. This means a gain to Altoona's population of at least ten thousand. The shops are to be built in such a way as to admit of additions at any time, and are a part of the plan of the Pennsylvania system to concentrate all their engine and car buildings at one central point. Together with the new shops now going up and improvements contemplated, at least $1,000,000 will be expended in Altoona during the next fourteen months to increase facilities for road equipment.

The Bestowal of Gifts.

We have been asked the question, Has an individual who bestows a gift on another person a legal right to take said gift away from the person who received it, without the latter's consent or knowledge?

As we understand it, the law may compel the receiver of the gift to pay for the same, but the giver of the gift has no right to enter the premises and carry away the article given without the possessor's consent. That would be theft and it would be a very cranky person who would attempt such a thing.

Another Resolution.

The following resolution was adopted as part of the proceedings of the Republican County convention:

Resolved, That the Republican party, in convention assembled, pledge a strong and vigorous support to such a revision of the tax laws of the State as will secure a just and equitable enrollment of all real estate and corporate and personal property, according to its actual cash value, and the assessment of a horizontal and uniform mill rate of tax upon all property, to meet the requirements of State, county and local governments, in accordance with the provision of the constitution.

—Rev. J. J. Rankin was installed pastor of the Presbyterian church at Newfield Clearfield county, on Tuesday evening of this week. Rev. A. A. Bird, of Houtzdale, preached the sermon; Rev. R. A. McKinley presided, propounded the constitutional questions and delivered the charge to the congregation. Rev. J. Vernon Bell, of DuBois, delivered the charge to the pastor. The church was handsomely decorated and the choir furnished excellent music. Mr. Rankin is a son of Wm. Rankin of New York, for many years treasurer of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions—Raftman's Journal.

EDWARD T. TUTEN, Editor

Local Department.

—The squirrel shooting season is here. —Harry Larimer caught a fox the other day. —The first blowing at the glass works will be on Saturday. —The Milton Agricultural fair will begin on Wednesday. —Henry Swarts, of Beech Creek, aged about 50 years, died from paralysis on the 1st inst.

—A very enjoyable occasion was the result of the iron worker's festival Saturday evening.

—A soap bubble party was a recent social festivity in Tyrone. The blower of the biggest bubble received a prize.

—Mr. Perry Yeager died on Monday at his home in Snow Shoe at the age of 28 years. His disease was consumption.

—There will be a meeting in the Knights of Labor Hall, Friday evening, to organize a branch of Knights of the Golden Eagle.

—Robert Morris, father of A. J. Morris, of Tyrone, died on Friday night, at his home in Freeport, Armstrong county, at the advanced age of 84 years.

—The International marksman contest occurs at Mt. Gretna next week. Mr. Green, of this place, is a member of the Company B boys who will participate.

—One of the piteous incidents of Monday was the appearance on the boulevards of trade of a Hungarian who said that another of his countrymen had stolen $200 from him.

—A festival will be given next Saturday evening at Waddle's Station for the benefit of the M. E. church at that place. Waddle's Station is only a short distance up the Buffalo Run railroad.

—No bounties are now paid on any wild animal except wolves and wildcats. The 1885 law which gave bounties for foxes, minks, weasels, hawks and owls was repealed by the law of 1887.

—John Miller's barn, at Hubbersburg, was destroyed by fire on Monday night. The fire was started by spontaneous combustion, oak having been put in while wet. The horses were rescued, but all the other contents were consumed.

—Theodore Ickey met with a severe and unfortunate accident on Monday at his home in Nittany Valley. He was in the hay mow, from whence he fell on the thrashing machine, breaking his right arm and dislocating the bone of the wrist.

—The fact that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are now advertising for sealed proposals "for furnishing all labor and material and erecting a complete passenger station at Bellefonte, on Tyrone Division of P. R. R.," begins to look like business. The bids are to be opened on September 8.

—This morning we looked at the plastering which has just been completed in E. L. Garman's new house. It is as clear and beautiful as anything of the kind we ever saw. Mr. Mitchell Lieb was the skillful workman who did this piece of work and it is certainly a credit to him, as its excellence is in keeping with the other features of this beautiful house.

—Mr. McNerney, the gentleman about whom the Philadelphia papers of Monday contained long accounts because he had arrived there from Jacksonville, Fla., the victim, as is supposed, of yellow fever, formerly lived in Lock Haven, where his brother, P. H. McNerney is a prominent citizen. We hope Mr. McNerney has not a real attack of Yellow Jack.

—Since Rev. J. P. Sarvis has been on the Pleasant Gap M. E. circuit he has received into the church on full membership one hundred and ten persons. His ministerial labors on that circuit do not extend back more than two years, which makes a record of which he may be proud. Verily, the church to-day seems to be enlarging her borders more rapidly than ever before.

—The following persons will hereby take notice that they have been appointed committees by the Republican League as follows: C. E. Shaffer, H. H. Harshberger, Hard P. Harris, E. M. Blanchard, and John Kline as a committee to secure campaign songs and organize a Republican League singing club; W. F. Reeder, M. F. Riddle, Frank McCoy, Capt. Austin Curtin and John C. Miller, a committee to collect data and statistics of the manufacturing and industries of Centre County for the benefit of the Republican League of Pennsylvania.

—That proposed "straw ride" to Nittany mountain, which was postponed because of wet weather, took place on Tuesday afternoon. The party started away under the most favorable prospects and we learn that they had a most delightful time. Mr. Joe Montgomery being the only one who met with an accident. He fell through a hole in the straw and after a great deal of searching by the other members of the party the straw was removed and he was found safe and sound in the bottom of the conveyance. He was glad to be rescued.

THREE GREAT QUESTIONS.

For Council on Monday Night.

A SECOND ASSISTANT MARSHAL ELECTED—WATER APPLIED FOR AND A FIRE COMPANY THAT WANTS TO DISBAND.

After mature deliberation on Monday night council elected Mr. H. D. Yerger to be second assistant marshal, Mr. L. T. Munson having been already chosen for marshal and George Smith first assistant.

Here then are the heads of a fire department which cannot be surpassed by any town and we don't know why every thing should not be lovely and the goose hang high.

The council was somewhat startled by a proposal from Mr. Shoemaker. Although the Messrs. Collins and Shoemaker are known to do things on an extensive scale this is the largest and most liberal water request that has been made and we doubt not it will be accepted. Mr. Shoemaker proposes to tap the four-inch water pipe at Curtin street and put down a four-inch pipe all the way from that point to his residence out in the country (the Yocum mansion). He will be subject to any tax for its use which the borough may impose and will allow the continuance of this privilege to remain optional with council. If this plan is carried into execution it will necessitate the laying, at Mr. Shoemaker's own expense, of 2000 feet of 4-inch pipe, not costing the borough a cent. About 600 or 700 feet of it will be inside the borough with the privilege of tapping it for the use of others along the route. The pipe in the borough will, of course, become borough property and will result in a handsome revenue, while there is no outlay. It is estimated that the expense to Mr. Shoemaker will be about $2,000. The Water committee was instructed to negotiate further with him on the subject. It seems that the Logan Hose Company made two requests—one to withdraw from the borough fire department and another for a committee of the borough council to meet with them and settle property accounts. A motion to accede to the second request was first amended by a motion to accept their withdrawal. The amendment was voted down, and the motion carried. Then the Fire and Police committee was instructed to meet the Logans. The reason given for the rejection of the amendment was because the request to withdraw was probably hastily and inconsiderately made, and to negotiate with this excellent company is considered to be far wiser.

The business of less importance which was transacted at the meeting was the acceptance of the reports from the committees. It was reported that Andrew Harter's horse was slightly hurt by stepping through an open box in the street somewhere, but the claim for damages will be disallowed. As for Dr. Hayes' horse, which was quite seriously hurt some time ago, by falling through a bridge, Council will await a statement of amount of damages.

Market fees in two weeks $8.15. On the preparation of an ordinance for fire limit progress was reported. The fact that merchants are continuing to throw decayed vegetables and fruit in front of store doors was complained of, and the Street committee is instructed to proceed against them to the full extent of the ordinance.

The borough is now $4800 in debt to Treasurer Cook and new bills to the extent of $450 were approved.

What Can be Done?

The events of last week in court have started people to thinking. What can be done? they question, to rid our county of such awful wickedness as the circumstances of last week prove exists here to an alarming extent? There were forty cases of a very despicable crime which we do not like to name on this fair page. According to an opinion expressed by a gentleman who has had long experience in criminal court records, this represents only about one-third of the number of such crimes which are actually in existence at this time. They are offenses against the law of God and man. They show a condition of affairs which place the people on a level with the much-despised polygamous Mormons.

The ministers don't know what to do because such attempts as have been made by them to preach against the wickedness of criminal intercourse have been denounced by so-called respectable people as subjects which should not be mentioned. Decent papers don't like to handle the subject because they are read by young children as well as by older people, and the tendency of indecent papers is to encourage rather than to disparage such crime.

But this crime is increasing. The county is being populated with children who have no father nor mother. Parity and virtue are at a discount. The punishment which the law metes out does not seem to be severe enough. It was prescribed, we are told, at a time when the crime was rare. Among the punishments proposed are two years imprisonment or the whipping post. We are certainly in favor of something very severe and disgraceful.

A doctor, the other day, in speaking of a certain class in the community, asserted that not one half of them are virtuous. The doctor is not a gentleman who is inclined to magnify evils. The names of men treated as respectable are associated with these crimes. Surely, a halt should be called to it if the future generation is to make any pretensions to uprightness or purity.

A Boom in Wheat.

The following article appeared in last Thursday's issue of the New York Mail and Express. It will prove pleasant reading to many of the farmer patrons of this paper:

"The excitement in wheat which has prevailed in the exchange and among grain brokers during the past week reached the general public to-day. The news by cable this morning that the crop is 70,000,000 to 80,000,000 bushels short, that the storms of the present week in England have greatly injured the crop of that country, and that already the wheat shortage has caused the price of bread to be raised a penny a loaf in some parts of London, caused no little apprehension, and persons were heard asking if there was any danger of such a state of affairs here. It was said that the present outlook indicates that bread will be high priced. During the present excitement over wheat the transactions on the exchange here increased from 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 bushels a day to 25,000,000 and 30,000,000. Yesterday and the day before the transactions reached 36,000,000 and last week for three days they averaged 20,000,000 bushels a day. The reports on the floor of the exchange are to the effect that the European shortage is 150,000,000 bushels. This morning the markets were quiet."

"As a dealer well informed as to the condition of the crops, both here and abroad, Mr. R. L. Engle, the exporter, was asked for some particulars on the subject. He said the marked rise in the price of wheat was owing to the poor crops which will be had in Europe; that the outlook there was not only very bad for wheat but also for the potato crop in Ireland. His correspondent had sent word that Great Britain, owing to the late storms, must import at least 170,000,000 bushels of wheat and that France will have a very poor crop, possibly one of the worst she ever had."

"The crop in this country, Mr. Engle added, is light also, which makes the situation entirely different from that of 1879, the time of the last failure of the wheat crop abroad. In that year the country had its largest wheat crop, one which amounted to 520,000,000 bushels. But this year, while the situation on the other side is quite as bad as in 1879, our crop has not been estimated by anybody to be more than 414,000,000 bushels. In 1879 there was an enormous advance, the price increasing 50 cents a bushel."

"Significant fact in relation to wheat was cabied privately to Walker Brothers & Co., of London. This was that representatives are now in London of both the French and German governments trying to buy fine old English wheat for seed. This shows more than anything else that crops in these countries are poor, it being a very unusual thing for these countries to go to England or anywhere out of their own territory for choice wheat or seed."

"The orders from both England and the Continent to this market have been large. The surplus available for export is estimated to be 103,000,000 bushels."

The above are the salient and favorable points of the article. The fact that the wheat crop is large in this country will give our farmers a fair share of the profits.

The Schools.

On the 12th of September the schools will open in the old stone building on Allegheny street. That will be Wednesday of next week, and the children who go there may begin now to look for their books and other school property. No repairs of any importance have been made in the school building.

In the new building, on Bishop street, the schools will begin on Thursday, the 13th. This school property has been made much more beautiful. The building, grounds, fence, etc., are perfect and a substantial patent pavement has been laid in front of the property. On it Mr. Cunningham has done his best work and it is a model of skill and excellence.

The High School will begin on Monday, the 17th.

—The Lock Haven Daily Democrat says that the Rev. Chas. T. Steck was obliged to abandon the ministry on account of ill health. We think this is a mistake. Rev. Chas. T. Steck is now and has always been the picture of good health and retains all his pulpit power. He has not abandoned the Christian ministry, but if he is called to represent his district in Congress he will be willing to immolate himself on the altar of patriotism for the benefit of the dear people. In politics, however, as in other affairs, many are called but few are chosen. Henry Clay McCormick will prevent Mr. Steck from making the sacrifice this time.

—The Lutheran congregation of Pleasant Gap will begin their sociables again and the next one will be held on Saturday evening, September 15, at the home of Mr. A. J. Swartz. The sociables held at Mr. Swartz's home are always specially pleasant. Excellent refreshments and the most enjoyable amusements will be provided for the occasion. Everybody is invited and all who attend will be well entertained.

A WORD FOR MR. FRYBERGER.

Republican Prospects in Missouri.

A subscriber of this paper writes rather encouragingly of a state which we supposed was hopelessly Democratic. His letter, such as it is meant for publication, is as follows:

VERMILION, MO., Aug. 28, 1888.

MR. EDWARD T. TUTEN—Dear Sir: I see in your paper that the Republican party of Centre county are about to nominate Capt. C. T. Fryberger as their candidate for the office of assemblyman. I give it as my opinion that it would be an excellent choice. He and I were boys together, and during the war we were soldiers in the same division in the 9th corps. He was captain in the 45th Pa. regiment and I was lieutenant in the 51st Pa. regiment infantry. I knew him as a soldier as well as a citizen. He was a good boy before the war, and during the war he was a good, true, valuable soldier for the Union. I think he can be trusted in any capacity in a civil office that the party would elect him to. "Hurrah for Harrison and Morton!"

I hope they will be elected in November, and the American industries thereby protected against English manufacturers and pauper labor. What is our interest is not the interest of foreign nations, and what is their interest is not ours. As we have separate governments so we have separate interests. What interest is it to the Irish Americans to assist their brethren in Ireland, and at the same time vote with the Democrats in America, who legislate by taking off the tariff for the benefit of Great Britain, which helps them to further trample the Irish underfoot?

I believe in home rule in both old Ireland and in America. With a little assistance this State could be carried by the Republicans for Harrison and Morton.

I predict that if Cleveland carries this state it will be by 15,000 less than he did in 1884. Cleveland's majority will be less than 10,000 in Missouri this year. Mind that as you go along. This could be overcome with help from abroad.

Union or war Democrats who come to this State from northern states and live here 2 or 3 years invariably turn to be Republicans. They say, as I do, that Democracy is not here what it is in the north.

GEORGE DECKER.

The Flemings' Victory.

The Flemings and the Eureka met on the Diamond for the second time on Saturday afternoon and after a game of three hours the Flemings left the field with a big victory credited to their record and they are again the champion base ballists of Bellefonte. Consult the official score and see the work done by each nine:

Woodcock's pitching throughout the game was very fine. Valentine did excellent work behind the bat until his hand was injured, when his place was well taken by Brew.

There was a large number of people present to witness the game.

These games are very entertaining and we hope the two nines will play again.

—On Sunday night Miss Alpha Corman and her mother, who keep the novelty store on Spring street, were made the victims of quite an extensive robbery. A large box filled with valuable goods was on the rear porch. The ladies attended church and on returning discovered nothing wrong. No sound was heard during the night although the room of the female help is directly above the porch where the box was. On Monday morning they found that the nails had been drawn from the tight fastened box, the top removed and a careful selection of goods—largely toys—taken from the box. The robbers had been quite bold and audacious in their operations. They drank a quart of milk which had been placed on top the cupboard on the porch. They found cakes in the cupboard which they dipped in apple butter and made a delightful midnight feast. Then with hunger satisfied and a load of toys which they will peddle at a profit through the country, they departed. The goods taken away are valued at $50. Delectables are now after the bold robbers. Miss Corman believes that the robbers drew the nails while she and her mother were at church and afterwards removed the top from the box and selected their booty at their leisure.

Mr. Ollie Meek, brother of P. Gray Meek, is at present at the latter's home in this place, taking a brief respite from duties at Washington City, D. C.

We observe that Miss Lizzie Forster, a daughter of Major R. H. Forster, of Harrisburg, has been a guest this week at the residence of Dr. J. W. Rhone.

Mr. Hergesheimer, of Germantown is now in Bellefonte the guest of his friend, Miss Carrie Landis. Visits to the cave, to Snow Shoe and elsewhere are on the tapis.

Adjutant General Hastings was in town on Saturday evening. Last week he engaged in a contest with Miss Belva Lockwood to see which could make the best address to the farmers.

We notice that Mr. T. P. Rynder, Milesburg's eminent citizen, is again a congressional candidate, the Union Labor party having elevated him to that position at its meeting in Houtzdale on Labor Day (last Monday).

Mr. C. G. Nissley, editor and proprietor of the Tyrone Weekly Times, looked in upon the DAILY NEWS sanctum Wednesday. We are sorry we were out at the time and did not see him. Call again when here, friend Nissley.

On Monday three young men from Tyrone, named respectively Gerald Hoover, Farran Zerbe and John Vogt, came to Bellefonte to see and admire the far-famed beauty of the young ladies who are so numerous in this place. They say that the half of the loveliness had not been told them.

Edmund D. Shortlidge, son of Dr. E. G. Shortlidge, of Wilmington, Delaware, after visiting in Bellefonte several months, left on Wednesday for his home. He greatly enjoyed his visit here at the residence of his uncle, Mr. William Shortlidge, and while here he was a desirable addition to Bellefonte society.

Miss Alpha Corman was with the party which went to Cayuga Lake, and also Niagara Falls. She returned last week. While at that favored and beautiful spot (Cayuga Lake) she purchased three building lots, which are located in the very best part of what is expected soon to be a thriving and popular resort.

Prof. J. Milton Furey and family, on Saturday evening, went to Lock Haven, to reside permanently. The corps of school teachers, in his departure, lose a teacher whose place cannot possibly be filled. There perhaps was never a teacher in Bellefonte who had more entirely the respect and confidence of his pupils.

Mrs. M. Dewitt Burnett, of New York, is a guest at the home of her father, Ex-Gov. Curtin, in this place. Mrs. Burnett was Miss Kate, the accomplished daughter of the Governor, and her first visit home since her wedding is an event of much consequence and great pleasure to her numerous friends.

Mr. W. F. Reber, the court reporter of this district, has received an offer from the National Democratic Committee to become their stenographer. As the entire country is to select from in the choice of such work this is an exceptional honor for Mr. Reber and a testimonial to the skill and accuracy of his work. He has not yet definitely decided to accept.

Personal Penclings.

Prof. Wolfe, superintendent of schools, visited Bellefonte this week.

Prof. Lieb desires to meet the new pupils attending school, on Tuesday next, in the office on the west side of the stone school house.

Dr. E. W. Hale, wife and daughter are enjoying themselves greatly in their European tour and do not expect to return home until November.

Miss Jennie Shortlidge is recorded in the Evening Express, Lock Haven, as a guest at the home of ex-councilman E. L. Moore, of that city.

Mr. E. M. Valentine, of Philadelphia, is still continuing his presence at Mrs. Pugh's on Curtin St. Mrs. V will remain for an extended visit among friends in this place.

Robert E. Wilson is visiting friends Bellefonte and in Lock Haven. Bob is inclined more to Lock Haven than he is to Bellefonte, but he won't give her name away.—Altoona Mirror.

We regret to learn that Mr. S. A. Stover's condition does not show that rapid improvement which his friends so greatly desire. He has had several relapses of illness. It is to be hoped that from now on the progress toward recovery may be regular and certain.

Ex-Governor Curtin is at present at his home here, enjoying its attractions. Surrounded as he is by his brilliant and accomplished family we should think that Bellefonte would be the most delightful place in the world to him. We notice that whatever party the Governor allies himself with he is always right on questions which affect the interests of the locality in which he lives. The Governor has earned the elegant retirement that he now enjoys and we hope that his future days may be the best, happiest and most prosperous of his life.

—On Sunday Mr. J. C. Weaver conducted the Y. M. C. A. meeting in his specially happy manner. The attendance was larger than usual and Rev. W. H. Snyder, pastor of the Reformed church, was present, giving a very pleasing and edifying talk on the subject under consideration—"The relation between employer and employee—a striking contrast." The fact was brought out that the true method for all differences to be settled is by the practice of the golden rule by both parties. Until each learns to practice that consideration and forbearance which the Christian religion teaches the situation may be considered hopeless. The practice of Christian principles will prove to be solution of the problem which now seems to be so perplexing.

—Evansburg, Crawford, county, Pa., has a law and order society that is endeavoring to stop Sunday trains. The railroad threatens to retaliate by going around the town, leaving it two miles from the nearest station with Connet Lake between.—Sindtport Democrat.

If so, the railroad companies are acting very silly. Elliot F. Sheppard, of New York, a son-in-law of Mr. Vanderbilt, estimates that by Sunday trains the railroads lose 50 per cent of their profits and Evansburg is acting in the interest of railroads in endeavoring to stop Sunday trains. Let the officers of railroads consult statistics and examine into the profit and loss and they, too, will stop Sunday travel.

A Perfect Season.

This season has been a model of beauty and perfection. The crops throughout have been uniformly excellent, there being no exceptions. The rains have come at regular intervals and have been plentiful enough to be thoroughly refreshing. A farmer of intelligence and long experience says it has been in every respect the finest season of which he ever knew. It seems that a kind and gracious Providence is doing all it can to prevent the disaster and calamity caused by four years of Democratic rule.

—We expect some of the most prominent Democrats in Bellefonte to vote for Harrison and Morton—some, too, who are elected as officers of the Democratic meetings. They don't deem it prudent to make an open statement of their belief, but they have made admissions to the editor of this paper, which show conclusively that if they vote as they think it will be for the Republican nominees. We expect Pennsylvania to give 150,000 for the Republican nation ticket and New York State 100,000.

—There are still 130 guests at the Bedford Springs hotel, and this notwithstanding the comparatively cold weather. The temperature has been under fifty degrees every morning this week, but during the day runs up to eighty-five and ninety. The work of excavating for additional buildings adjoining what is known as the "Springs Cottage" has been begun. This is the beginning of a series of big improvements at this famous resort.
